Travel during the COVID-19 Pandemic

Travel increases your chance of getting and spreading COVID-19. Staying home is the best way to protect yourself and others from the disease.

You can get COVID-19 during your travels. You may feel well and not have any symptoms, but you can still spread COVID-19 to others. You and your travel companions (including children) may spread COVID-19 to other people including your family, friends, and community for 14 days after you are exposed to the virus.

Don't travel if you are sick or if you have been around someone with COVID-19 in the past 14 days. Don't travel with someone who is sick.

Before you travel, consider whether COVID-19 is spreading at your destination? The more cases at your destination, the more likely you are to get infected during travel and spread the virus to others when you return.

- Check Each State's Cases in the Last 7 Days
- Travel Recommendations for Destinations Around the World
- Are you or your loved ones at increased risk for severe illness from COVID-19? Anyone can get very ill from the virus that causes COVID-19, but older adults and people of any age with certain underlying medical conditions are at increased risk for severe illness from COVID-19.

If You Travel

During your trip, take steps to protect yourself and others from COVID-19:

- Wear a mask to keep your nose and mouth covered when in public settings, including on public transportation and in transportation hubs such as airports and stations.
- Avoid close contact by staying at least 6 feet apart (about 2 arms' length) from anyone who is not from your household.
- Wash your hands often or use hand sanitizer (with at least 60% alcohol).
- Avoid contact with anyone who is sick.
- Avoid touching your eyes, nose, and mouth.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) strongly recommends everyone wear a mask on airplanes, trains, ships, ferries, subways, taxis and ride shares, and at transportation hubs such as airports and stations.

Remember that you may have been exposed to COVID-19 on your travels. You may feel well and not have any symptoms, but you can be contagious and spread the virus to others.
